Angelica Acosta Samaniego returned to Varner & Brandt's Riverside litigation team in 2015 after accepting a special assignment position with a law enforcement oversight agency in 2008. Angelica brings years of experience in both private and public sector legal experience to Varner & Brandt.

Her private sector practice focuses primarily on civil litigation involving a wide variety of legal areas for businesses. Angelica's public sector experience involved representation of numerous public entities on litigation matters, including governmental tort claims, CEQA matters and defense of law enforcement in use of force cases.

Additionally, Angelica was an attorney for a nationally recognized oversight agency in Los Angeles called the Office of Independent Review (OIR). At the OIR, Angelica provided civilian oversight for the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department's Internal Affairs Bureau's investigations into officer misconduct, use of force, officer involved shootings and other critical incidents.

Angelica has successfully litigated hundreds of cases from start to finish. Today, Angelica is one of Varner & Brandt's partners overseeing attorneys and staff who, as a team, handle numerous litigation files. She obtained a 2018 complete defense verdict for one of Varner & Brandt's largest business client where the potential exposure was well over $10 million dollars. She has a deep passion for the law and creatively brings that passion into the courtroom for all her clients.

Angelica is currently General Counsel to the National Orange Show ("NOS"), in San Bernardino. NOS is a non-profit association that was formed in 1910, in order to promote and preserve the citrus industry in San Bernardino.

Angelica has been recognized for service by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors and the Sheriff of Los Angeles for service to the citizens of Los Angeles County and the National Association for Equal Justice in America for service to the Black and Latino communities. She has presented to criminal justice students regarding officer involved shootings and was recently honored to be the Keynote Speaker for La Sierra University's 2019 graduating class, Criminal Justice Division.

Angelica received two B.A degrees, Political Science and Liberal Studies, with honors from California State University at Fullerton and her Juris Doctorate from Fowler School of Law (formerly known as Chapman Law School). When not working hard for her clients, she enjoys spending time with her family and friends in the mountains or near a lake.
